

WHITE MAN STABS NEGRO.

Last Sunday morning or late Saturday night J. M. Giles, white, stabbed and probably fatally wounded Joe McAdoo. McAdoo was cut behind and below the left ear, too long gashes on the left side of the face, the blade of the knife was broken into two pieces, one being removed while the other remains within the skull, and will be removed later by operation.

The fight is said to have occurred some time after 12 o'clock Saturday night, just in front of Giles' home, 1404 Sigler street. Giles and a friend, it seems, were standing on the pavement in front of the Giles home, when McAdoo and Will Slater came along. McAdoo, it was understood, was drunk and staggered against Giles, who pushed him against the fence, and a desperate fight followed. Giles received a bad cut on the arm and Slater was also stabbed in the wrist. A large spring-back knife was found near the scene of the fight, and it is thought to have been used by McAdoo.

Giles was arrested by Patrolmen Roberts and Benson, charged with assault with a knife with intent to commit murder, but was released on bond. He is about 24 years old and is a son of Policeman J. P. Giles.

McAdoo was taken to the City Hospital, where it is reported he is getting along as well as could be expected.

Slater was arrested Sunday night by Patrolmen Roberts and Benson, charged with assault and battery and disorderly conduct.

WHAT A TEXAN SAYS OF BISHOP TYREE.

Bishop Tyree has been in the state for several weeks. He held a very interesting session of the presiding elders' council at Marlin and is now making it around to as many district conferences as possible. He was with Dr. Denham in his district conference all day Thursday and preached a noble sermon Thursday night. He left for the seat of the Brenham district conference. Bishop Tyree's presence at the different district conferences is a source of great encouragement to presiding elders, ministers and people in general. He asked the people of Texas to raise $10,000 this year and he is among them now helping them to raise it. Bishop Tyree has traveled and retraveled over more territory than any other bishop we have had on the Tenth Episcopal, the results of which speak for themselves.—Paul Quinn Weekly.

DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS.

Mrs. Ida Haley has filed a petition in the Circuit Court for a divorce from Wilburn Haley and the custody of her child, alleging desertion.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE.

SIX HUNDRED NEW LAWS.

The Solons of the State of Tennessee got real busy the last days of the Legislature during the present term. Fully six hundred new laws were added to the statutes of Tennessee by the Fifty-fifth General Assembly. This exceeds the record of all previous General Assemblies, excepting the Fifty-third, which sat four years ago. That body passed 601 acts. But for a liberal use of the veto power by the Governor, the acts of this year would have exceeded in number those of 1905, the largest to this date in the history of the state.

Two years ago the acts contained 543 chapters. In 1901 the volume contained 497 laws, and less during almost every preceding Assembly.

More laws originated in the House than in the Senate, but in general laws of great importance a majority are Senate bills. The proportion of local or private acts is exceptionally large and would have been much larger but for the passage of the General Education bill.

Some important bills passed were: Appropriating $250,000 to Peabody College.

To make it a felony to keep a place where betting on races is allowed.

To appropriate $20,500 for Jamestown Exhibit.

Appropriating $40,900 for experiment station, West Tennessee.

To appropriate $35,000 to purchase Governor's mansion.

To authorize Nashville to issue $200,000 of waterworks and extension bonds.

To repeal act authorizing Turnpike Superintendent of Davidson County to appoint a clerk.

To authorize the appointment of an Assistant Superintendent of Pikes in Davidson County.

Abutting property or improvement district act for the city of Nashville.

To authorize Nashville to issue $275,000 of bonds to extend light plant.

To amend charter of Nashville so as to make five members a quorum of the Board of Education.

To provide a primary election law for Davidson county.

To establish a Board of Education of seven members for Davidson County.

To authorize city of Nashville to issue bonds for the extension of its waterworks system.

To authorize counties to take property for public purposes and two other acts authorizing Davidson County to condemn lands for bridge approaches.

To authorize certain school children of the Eighth District to attend Seefried School.

To abolish the Davidson County Turnpike Board created by act of 1903.

To provide for collection of interest on county funds.

To amend the redistricting act of Davidson County.

To change the line between the counties of Wilson and Davidson.

To authorize Nashville to increase appropriations over the budget.

To provide that certain fines in Nashville shall be paid to the Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

To provide for the payment of the indebtedness of the Thirteenth School District of Davidson County.

To authorize City Judge of Nashville to succeed himself.

To fix compensation of bonds to certain departments of Nashville.

To change the line between the counties of Davidson and Cheatham.

To authorize the extension of the electric light plant of the city of Nashville.

To extend corporate limits of Nashville so as to include road to Mt. Olivet.

To amend the charter of Nashville.

To segregate the saloon area in Nashville.

To authorize Davidson to issue $300,000 of bridge bonds.

To repeal Act of 1902 authorizing Davidson county to pay clerk hire for the Trustee.

PPRINCE HERRMAN.

Lebanon, Tenn., gave Prince Herrman and Duke Berryman the largest crowds that town has ever given to any entertainment. Next week they perform in Marreesboro, Tenn., and on Friday afternoon at 3 p. m., they play a matinee for school children at Payne Chapel A. M. E. Church, East Nashville, and that night at the same church, Saturday night, April 27th, they play at Benevolent Hall, Flat Rock.

THANKS TO GOV. PATTERSON
For Vetoing Anti-Greenwood Park Bill.

pable of working out their destiny acceptably to every requirement of a high and Christian civilization.

In conclusion, we wish to say the gratefulness of an entire people goes out to Gov. Patterson for his act of nobility in smothering the little "anti-Greenwood Park bill," which reserves to them the right to have their picnics or take their outing other than in the streets of Nashville.

MRS. HARRIET ELIZABETH
BEECHER-STOWE.

BY MISS ANNA R. DUNLAP.

(Read before the Christian Endeavor Society of St. Paul A. M. E. Church.)

"When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another and to assume the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and Nature's God entitle them, they should be permitted to separate, so long as the separation does not infringe upon the happiness of others.

"We believe all men to be created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; and when for any cause whatsoever a man or race of people is denied these privileges, then that one has just cause for equity and redress.

Russia with all her imperialism has allowed the people a Constitution and a right of self-government to a limited extent, but the United States that can fight the battle of the oppressed so far from home and pour out the blood of thousands of her own noble sons for a stranger's cause, failed to hear the cries of six millions of slaves who were held in a cruel bondage by the whites of this fair Southland. We possessed no rights which they felt bound to respect. Toiling, praying and trusting in a God of destiny for 250 years, these brethren in black made of the same blood, redeemed by the same Savior, served the white Christians in a "land of the free and home of the brave."

China, with her Pagan religion and inhuman atrocities against the Christians of the Nineteenth Century, was never so diabolical as were the slaveholders in their treatment of the Negro. But we are told in the Book of books that, "He tenners the wind to the shorn lamb," and indeed, can we of all people rejoice in this quotation and the truth of it as manifested to us through the influence of the writings of one of the noblest and truest friends that any race can boast, in the person of Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Beecher-Stowe.

If we are permitted to draw upon our imaginations we can see shining above the home of the Rev. Lyman Beecher, on June 14, 1811, the brightest star that has ever shown in the firmament since those sparkled out that led the wise men of the East to the humble manger in Bethlehem at the birth of the Christ child; for when the joyous announcement of the birth of a dear daughter was made in the Beecher home, little did that good man think that she would be the Moses who would, without sword or gun of her own, lead from bondage the humble slaves of America. Born as millions of other good women, she was very early given a Christian and literary training. Her father being a Congregational preacher, she had been taught that greatest of commands, "Love thy neighbor as thyself," and "Whatever we would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

Harriet Elizabeth Beecher-Stowe was educated at Litchfield Academy and at the school of her sister Catherine in Hartford, Conn. At the age of 14 she began teaching.

She felt so keenly the brutal injustice which was being done the Negroes in the South, until she urged her father to preach against it; afterwards she persuaded her brother, the noted Dr. Henry Ward Beecher, to do the same. She used every instrument at her command to arouse a sympathy strong enough to break down slavery forever. On bended knees she sent up a petition to our God to stir men to action; but not until she had heard of the life of Josiah Henson did the happy thought of writing "Uncle Tom's Cabin" come to her. I believe it was an inspiration from Daniel's God, who walked with the Hebrew children in the fiery furnace, and even more the Negroes' God, who heard their cries from the canebrakes of Louisiana, through the swamps of Mississippi and Arkansas, on and still on to the "Mason-Dixon Line" and sympathizers for the cause of the Negro arose.

No other book of fiction has been so popular with the people as her "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It was read by the people of this country and England, discussed by friends and foe, until the blood of our friends reached a white heat and the ultimate result was the great Civil War, which culminated in the emancipation of six millions of slaves. Six million men and women whose hallelujahs ascended to the lofty Heavens in honor of their God.

Stand for a while, if you will, with me on the plains of Lookout Mountain as those brave men in blue scale the steep sides of the mountain and plant "Old Glory on the utmost point while shot and shell from the enemy is rolled down upon them as they walked up the almost perpendicular sides of the mountain, or kneel in the Valley of Death at Gettysburg, or go with Sherman on his destructive march through Georgia, and at each place you will see behind the veil which hides it from view the hand of Harriet Beecher Stowe, holding before the eyes of the men in blue "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Its influence goes on to the close of the war and yet her good work is not accomplished until we hear a still sweet voice say, "All men are created equal." And years after the smoke of battle is cleared away, the cry of this voice is echoed in the halls of Congress and we see "Uncle Tom's" six million and more children step forth full-fledged citizens, clothed with all the rights of manhood. We would to the God of our salvation that other Harriet Beecher-Stowes could be raised up now to help us fight our battles of right against wrong and might.

After spending so many years in trying to help an oppressed people, after her locks were gray, her step faltering, eyes dim and the hand, which had grasped the mightiest pen ever dipped into ink, became nervous, Christ sent a host of angels to her home in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1896, to fold forever those precious arms and to bear the soul of the noblest woman who ever lived to his courts where she could join in praises to Him forever.

BRENTWOOD NOTES.

The Magnolia Sewing Club met last Monday, April 15, at the home of Mrs. J. C. Crawley, at Locust Lawn. The day being pleasant, most all of the members were out. Lots of sewing was done. The hostess invited the ladies into the dining room where a four-course menu was served. Mrs. James Bond, of Nashville, the guest of honor, delivered a very excellent address to the Club on Scotch women. She appropriately touched on temperance work, in which she gave the Club some wholesome advice. The members all enjoyed her address and felt much benefited by her presence and hope to have her with them at many of their future meetings. The members all enjoyed themselves. Those present were Mesdames James Bond, of Nashville, guest of honor; Green Hunt, G. W. Voorhees, Alex. Merritt, Thomas Walker, Samuel Vernon, Rodin Perkins, Robert E. Johnson, Edward Bills, Walter Dowell, Mitchell Woodson, J. C. Fields, T. A. Thompson and J. C. Crawley. The club adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. Alex. Merritt, at Brentwood Station, Monday, April 22.

The many friends of Mrs. Simon Woods regret to learn of her illness and hope she will recover soon.

Mr. Alex. Rains is on the sick list. Mrs. Lucy Claiborne is quite sick.

WILD LEAP FROM TWO-STORY WINDOW.

In the jumping of Lula Williams from a two-story window in a tenement house between Third and Fourth avenues, Wednesday morning, April 18, brings to mind the trite saying that the wicked fleeth when no man pursueth. Officers were on the search for another fighting Amazon, Lillie Winsett, who had some time last week used her knife freely carving up Minnie Smith, and went to the above named tenement to see if she was lodging there. Their presence must have awakened an indefinable dread in the mind of the Williams woman to make her take such desperate steps to escape their clutches, or she must have imagined that, whether innocent or guilty, if caught in the same room with the much wanted Lillie she would be handled roughly, landed in the city hall and fined when arraigned before His Honor. Whatever drove her to her wild leap, one thing is certain, she paid and is paying the penalty. She was taken to the City Hospital in the same vehicle she feared so much being carried to the police station in. What she did so hastily, she has time to reflect over and repent at leisure.

Lillie Winsett, who was wanted and who had actually committed a crime, was in the room, but she bethought herself, preferring to go to prison than to the hospital with broken limbs. Lillie demurred at taking the aerial route, so she faced the inevitable. She was taken in charge by the officers, who were seeking her benign presence; for she had been adding a little more to the criminal history of "Black Bottom."

SHOT AT A POLICEMAN.

A man named Robinson was committed to jail last Wednesday by Justice Dodd in default of bail to the amount of $500. Robinson is charged with shooting at a policeman one day last week while resisting arrest.

Mrs. James Scruggs, of West Patterson street, who has been very ill, is reported much better.

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION NOTES.

Music, vocal and instrumental, by the best Negro singers and composers, will be among the prominent features of the Exposition. The choicest selections, varying from reminiscent folk-song to the modern classic, will be rendered from time to time, and Negro artists of national repute will appear in special concerts in the great auditorium of the Negro Building on the second floor. Orchestral and choral music will be provided for, under the leadership of acknowledged masters of melody.

Prof. Kelly Miller, of Howard University, whose pamphlets and addresses on historical and sociological theses have made his name a household word from ocean to ocean, is preparing a series of charts illustrative of the status of the American Negro in relation to his population, geographical distribution, intellectual acquirements, mortality and the social aspect of his presence in the Republic. The problems emphasized by the drift of the rural Negro to the cities will be graphically worked out. Prof. Miller's exhibit will be peculiarly interesting and instructive to the student of the economic conditions which affect the Negro in this country.

The leading business men of Norfolk and vicinity will close on the 26th, the opening day of the Exposition. The inaugural will be a gala occasion. President Roosevelt will be in attendance, together with the governors of many states and their official staffs.

Concessions are being rapidly contracted for. Those who wish space for business purposes will do well to apply at once to the Executive Committee.

Virginia's educational institutions will make a magnificent showing.

Prof. Robert Kelser has been doing some splendid work in getting this exhibit in such complete and satisfactory form.

RECITAL AT FISK UNIVERSITY.

The Decagynian and Fisk Symphony Clubs gave an interesting recital April 12, in Livingstone Hall. The following program was rendered: Overture, Lustspiel; By Telephone, Miss Parks; Dream Thoughts; Zeno's Defense and The Jester's Prayer, Miss Jackson; Mazetta, and Watch Hill; Two Gentlemen of Verona, Scene II, Misses Parks and Jackson; Zeona; Our Minister's Sermon, Miss Parks; Private to General; The Whistling Regiment, Miss Jackson; Baroness; The Frost King.

"By Telephone," by Miss Parks, and "The Whistling Regiment," by Miss Jackson, are worthy of special mention.

Rev. J. W. Gilbert, the Educational Secretary of the C. M. E. Church, passed a day in Nashville en route to New York and the East, where he will remain some weeks before going back to Augusta, Ga.
